She also created a Schoology group for students and parents so they can access the resources that are there. She has heard that students are more engaged over the last few weeks. They also had a spirit/career spirit day just for 8th grade. Great job Sharon!

- Pat shares her experience with her son and how he took You Science again at the high school.
- She says that they need to work on the vocabulary for the big jobs so they are able to click on other careers that they are interested in.
